

BUSINESS MONITOR
international

Central America: Should It Be On Investors' Radar Screens?

Fri Nov 20, 2009 4:26pm BST

A region which traditionally received only little coverage is being considered an option by an increasing number of foreign investors. Richard Hamilton, BMI's Latin America analyst, explains why interest in the region is growing, and whether Central America should be considered a viable option for foreign investors.

[display_podcast]